

The logo for the Social Developers Network (SDN) features the letters 'SDN' in a stylized, black, handwritten-style font. The letters are enclosed within a yellow, wavy, brushstroke-like border that curves around them.

You are invited to an SDN workshop - no hierarchy, and no pre-fixed agenda - we create our own. The Social Developers Network is an association of people interested in the challenges of our time, keen to share knowledge, experiences and concerns. Be part of the effective small group experience that SDN offers - conviviality and mutual support guaranteed!

The Social Developers' Network

WORKSHOP

The workshop provides a forum for big and small ideas, our stories, and personal growth. Bring your contributions and share your concerns, from the personal to the political, the local to the global, and become part of this workshop's dynamic agenda. Feel empowered to be a more effective catalyst for social change.
